LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—IF YOU mean to retire with a little rest and leisure before the end DO IT. Don't wait.

Death does not wait, especially if you work beyond the natural time. Eddie Foy, popular actor, 73 years old, was on his way to California to rest and end the balance of his life. He thought he would work "just a little longer."

He is dead now, in Kansas City, where he worked literally until he died. Heart disease struck him just after he had left the stage.

AN ATHLETE, breaker of records, with big lungs and chest expansion was amazed when the life insurance doctor told him "you are a bad risk. We can't take you."

Next to no exercise, the dangerous thing is over-exercise. You can develop muscles almost without limit. But you have only one heart, and it will stand only so much.

IT IS pleasant, for to admit and for to see, for to travel this world so wide. It is a good thing also to remember your birthplace and your own people, convinced that both are the best in the world.

W. H. Genoble has a good permanent job with the railroad at Barstow, here in beautiful California, and likes it. "But," says he, as he takes your baggage checks, "the best state in the Union is South Carolina. I have 132 acres, 12 miles from Spartanburg in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains, and that is where I am going soon to start a dairy farm. Would you have a water pressure tank underground, or on a platform, up in the air? South Carolina has got more water power than any state. It is finer in every way than every other state. If the people knew about it as I do, it would be so crowded you couldn't move around." Such citizens, enthusiasm and loyalty build this nation.

SOME preacher, tell President Coolidge it is "not Christ-like" to demand a big war and preparation for war. The president can reply that our nation does not show any particular "Christ-like" tendencies in the big war, also that when that war came, many clergymen were enthusiastic about the duty to buy bonds and kill Germans.

IF ANOTHER war came and found us unprepared—as it would just now, since we have no flying machine fleet—the clergy would join with 120,000,000 others in asking President Coolidge, "why didn't you get ready?"

THE conference at Havana is about over. And as Mr. Rogers says, Uncle Sam is to be congratulated on going into a conference without losing anything, no battleships scuttled, no obligations that couldn't afford to compete, no silly promise not to fortify Guam, or do anything without the consent of Britain, France or Japan.

THE Argentine Republic wanted to rewrite the United States tariff, to compete with American farmers. But the Argentine didn't have Balfour as representative, so this country said, "We can handle little republics. Britain is too much for us."

LAST year this country spent $300,000,000 for radios, machines and parts. In 1927 will see the first radio presidential campaign. The world changes swiftly, adapting itself readily to new methods.

Radio employs 300,000 people and broadcasting reaches 90,000,000.

LABOR DISPUTE IS ADJUSTED

Potters Settle New Castle Liners' Issue.

Labor dispute between the liners at the Shenango pottery, New Castle, Pa., and their employers was adjusted at a conference between members of the labor committee of the United States Potters' association and the executive board of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters at the Potters' club, Fourth and Market streets, last night. Representatives of the manufacturers and employees' union today declined to discuss the dispute.

The meeting was attended by the entire executive board of the Brotherhood with the exception of Fifth Vice President Joseph Smith, who is ill at his home in Philadelphia. Three members of the labor committee were present.

Session of the executive board of the Brotherhood was held in the headquarters building here today. Eastern members of the board were to return to their homes tonight.

LENDEL MAY KNOW FATE MONDAY

DEFENSE READY TO ASK COURT FOR VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL

Ban on Streitenberger Testimony Hits State Case.
EX-CHIEF HAPPY Judge Lones Rules for Defendant in Mellett Death.

LISBON, O., Feb. 18.—Saranus A. Lendel, former Canton police chief, on trial a second time for alleged participation in the Don R. Mellett murder plot at Canton, in 1926, may know his fate Monday night.

Directed Verdict Sought. Following a ruling by Judge W. F. Lones here yesterday afternoon, that testimony of Floyd A. Streitenberger, admitted in Lendel's first trial at Canton, cannot be used at the present session, court was adjourned until Monday, when the state is expected to rest its case after calling three or four additional witnesses. The defense then will make a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, it was predicted.

Streitenberger, former Canton detective, under a life sentence to the Ohio penitentiary for complicity in the Mellett slaying, has refused to testify in the present trial. His testimony at Lendel's first trial was generally believed to have been responsible for the verdict of guilty against the white-haired ex-chief, which resulted in Lendel being sentenced to life. The seventh district court of appeals reversed the lower court, however.

Court Cites Similar Case. In his ruling, Judge Lones cited an "exactly similar case, which was taken to the Ohio supreme court."

"I fully realize my duty to the state and defense in addition to my sworn duty, but in the face of the decision of the supreme court in an exactly similar case, I must rule that the previous testimony may not be used at this trial," Judge Lones said. "My idea of a fair trial is that the court should be lenient in admitting testimony. It is not for me, a common pleas judge, to say the supreme court is wrong. At some later date the supreme court may reverse its previous ruling, but until that time the test—"

SMITH GIRL SEARCH TURNS TO CHICO, CAL.

Missing College Co-ed Seen Near Southern Pacific Station.

TRACE IS LOST Heiress Later Purchased Trolley Ticket for Sacramento.

CHICO, Cal., Feb. 18.—The search for Frances St. John Smith, missing New York heiress and Smith college co-ed, turned with startling abruptness to Chico, Cal., today.

Three men, who observed a girl in or about the Southern Pacific station here, declared they are positive she answers the description of the titan-haired beauty who vanished January 13 and has been the object of a nation-wide hunt ever since.

The girl they describe as nervous and very much upset, when she observed a newspaper photograph of Mrs. St. John Smith, mother of the missing co-ed, bought a ticket for Sacramento in an electric station late yesterday.

She alighted from the room and told curious attendants she was waiting for her husband, "C. N. Lee." Later she asked the way to the state depot, but finally purchased an electric line ticket.

Whether or not she took the train could not be established. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 18.—A check of hotels here failed to disclose a trace of Frances St. John Smith, missing co-ed reported to have bought a ticket for Sacramento in Chico late yesterday.

Trainmen of the Sacramento Northern Electric line were being questioned to check a report that she may have boarded a Sacramento-bound train.

THREE MISSING AFTER GIANT WAVE SWEEPS DECK OF FERRY

Death Clutches at 5,000 on Boat at San Francisco.

INQUIRY BEGINS

Salty Foam Engulfs Forward End of Vessel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—The likelihood that at least three passengers of the ferryboat Peralta, whose decks were swept by a giant wave in San Francisco Bay last night, have perished appeared plausible today when relatives of the three persons reported them missing.

The three, believed to have drowned in the sensational mishap are: James W. Collins of Oakland, Hugh Findlay of Berkeley and Walter Hovey, address unknown.

United States Inspector John K. Bidger and other federal state investigators, officials confirmed reports that the three passengers were definitely missing.

Conflicting Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Death clutched at 5,000 homeward-bound ferry passengers here and today is believed to have dragged six of them beneath the waves of San Francisco Bay.

Out of a maze of conflicting reports this was the conviction of federal and state investigators as they opened a searching investigation today into the tragedy that nearly overwhelmed the Key system ferry Peralta last night. Jammed with chatting thousands bound for the supper tables of a thousand East Bay homes, the Peralta suddenly plunged deck-deep into the tide-wracked depths off Goat Island, a mile from her Oakland slip.

A crashing wave of salty foam engulfed the forward end of the ship. Thirty men and women, it is believed, were engulfed and hundreds more, soaked by the surging wash of waters, screamed and fought in panic to escape the doom that threatened.

Shroud of Mystery.

But the Peralta righted, sloshed off the tons of water that swept half-way through the lower deck space, and staggered to a stop as rescuers fumbled in clumsy haste to launch lifeboats.

Exactly what happened no one seems to know. Baffled by a shroud of mystery thrown over the whole affair investigators throughout the night were able to gain little more than the jumbled, fear-distorted tales of survivors.

On an official statement, issued by the key system, that only 14 of 20 persons known to have been in the water are accounted for is today's presumption based that six are missing, perhaps drowned.

Noted Singer's Daughter Weds. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Marie Hilgartner, daughter of the world noted singer, Madame Schumann Heink, is today Mrs. Charles M. Fox. She was married here to Dr. Charles M. Fox of San Diego. The famous diva was present at the ceremony.

PATROL DRIVER ON JOB TODAY

Firemen to Serve on Police Desk at City Hall.

As the result of a plan approved by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum and Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore, a patrol driver will be on duty at city hall 24 hours a day.

Firemen from the Central station will serve on the police desk at police headquarters and answer calls with the patrol when needed from 12 o'clock midnight until 7 a. m., when the desk sergeant reports for duty. Heretofore the city hall night-watchman has been receiving the telephone calls after midnight but no patrol calls were answered unless one of the police officers took charge of the "wagon."

Walter Feustel is the first member of the fire department to fill the city hall job. The firemen will take turns, a new driver being assigned each week. In the event of a large fire where the fireman on duty at the city hall is needed, one of the patrolmen will be called off the streets to city hall.

Firemen will begin traffic duty probably tonight, releasing the police for beats, the mayor announced.

ALIENIST SAYS RUM KING WHO SHOT DOWN HIS WIFE IS SANE

Hearing is Held Before Appellate Court in Lima.

HELD IN ASYLUM

Sanity Question to be Decided on Monday.

LIMA, O., Feb. 18.—Reports that George Remus, one time "king of the bootleggers," now confined in the state asylum for the criminal insane here as an aftermath of the slaying of his wife, Imogene, would be freed Monday were denied by officials of the institution today.

A hearing before the appellate court here today resulted in testimony by Dr. W. L. Neville, defense alienist in Remus' murder trial, that he is sane.

A sanity hearing is to be held Monday.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings. Dr. Neville was testifying in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Remus after his imprisonment at the state hospital. He had been called as a defense alienist, and was to have testified Monday, but was allowed to give his testimony today, over the state's objection, when it was shown his professional services were required out of the state.

Remus in his petition declares he is sane, and is being held illegally. A Hamilton county jury in the court of Judge Shook, had found Remus not guilty of first degree murder, on the "sole ground of insanity." This verdict was the only "not guilty" verdict allowed in the charges of the trial judge.

State's alienist previous to the murder trial had declared Remus was sane.

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Trouble

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold By All Good Druggists.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same. Go to any good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil. The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past. Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered one way to restore your skin to perfect health. Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Price cutting in permanent waving has become contagious. "Cut throat" prices, we might say. Shops spring up here and there with inexperienced, untrained operators using cheap machines and cheap supplies. Even at that they cannot show a margin of profit. Prices should be higher as longer hair is in vogue and boyish cut or shingle is not worn by up-to-date women.

We introduced permanent waving in East Liverpool in 1920. Our high price equipment is paid for, our reputation made, and to combat this evil we are going to operate at a loss until April 1st. COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18. — Leroy Riser, 29, Circleville, O., now a prisoner at Xenia, O., on a charge of robbery, is wanted at Birmingham, Ala., in connection with the death of Mrs. Lucy Leahy, Columbus police announced here today. Identification of Riser, according to police, was made by Detective Marvin Garver, Birmingham, who arrived here late yesterday.

Mrs. Leahy was strangled to death, and robbed of $175 and a diamond ring. The woman's body was discovered in her apartment about three days after the robbery when neighbors investigated a gas odor from her apartment. The ring later was recovered at Chattanooga, Tenn., Garver said.

SINCLAIR OPALINE MOTOR OIL

Seals Power at every Degree of Wear

A JOB HALF DONE IS NOT DONE AT ALL!

WHAT difference does it make, if the thing be a house or a motor oil—if it is only "half done it's not done at all!"

If your motor oil has only QUALITY, then it is only HALF right! If all it does is fight friction and resist heat, then its job is only half done! The right QUALITY of motor oil is not enough—you need the right GRADE or body, too!

Why? Because motor oil, to do a complete job when it goes up into your cylinders, must fill the space between each piston and cylinder wall—must seal this space to prevent the power from blowing by!

That's where having the right GRADE of motor oil is important. This space between piston and cylinder wall changes with mileage. In a new car, this space is small—only a lighter grade of oil can get into it to prevent power loss. After your car travels 2,000 miles, this space has increased—only a heavier grade of oil will seal your power. At 12,000 miles, a still heavier grade is required!

There is a grade of Opaline to give you this extra service — to seal this space and prevent your power from blowing by, both before and after pistons are refitted or new rings installed. That's where the Sinclair Law of Lubrication carries a message to you.

In Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil you get not only good oil, meeting the demands of present-day engines — you also get the right grade to FIT THE DEGREE OF WEAR in your engine at every mileage point.

Buy Opaline by mileage! Tell us how many miles your car has been driven and we will give you motor oil that will do the complete job! Having the right GRADE of motor oil is just as important as having the right QUALITY. It is our responsibility to see that you get BOTH.

Vetoes "Emergency"

After vetoing the "emergency clause," Mayor Ralph C. Benedum yesterday signed the recently enacted councilmanic ordinance which increases the salary of patrolmen from $150 to $160, and thus delays effectiveness of the measure for 30 days, or until March 18.

The city executive, who ruled that the clause which set forth that "police can no longer be retained at their present salary" is illegal, has left open the alternative of a referendum on the legislation if such a move is contemplated by opponents of the proposal. Had the emergency clause remained in the ordinance, the legislation should have become effective at once.

The mayor's veto directs attention to the fact that the so-called "emergency clause" is overworked in councilmanic enactments in East Liverpool. According to Webster, an emergency is "a sudden or unexpected appearance; an unforeseen circumstance or a combination of circumstances which calls for immediate action or remedy; a crisis, a pinch, an exigency, etc."

Judging from the use of the clause, crises or exigencies prompt most of the legislative proposals which are introduced in the council chamber. Occasions arise, of course, which demand immediate action, but the law should not be invoked for the mere purpose of shutting off the right of the people for a direct vote on proposals that affect the taxpayers who must pay the bill.

Teaching Becomes Art

To the youngsters in Mount Kisco, N. Y., a loaf of bread is not merely something to eat; it is a vision. In it are seen the sower of the wheat, the miller who grinds it, the baker who bakes the floor, the baker who mixes it and the oven in which it is baked.

This may lead some of our readers to believe that these children are unusually imaginative, or perhaps are of exceptional mental caliber. Be assured, however, that they are youngsters such as may be found right here in East Liverpool—or in any other community, for that matter—and, in fact, in every public school.

Well may one ask "is this a part of the regular curriculum in the schools of New York?" It is not.

The answer is that the school authorities of Mount Kisco availed themselves of the offer of the Westchester County Children's association to supply the means—teachers and equipment—to demonstrate that the problem of the school today is not merely how to teach, but what to teach.

Perhaps the outstanding accomplishment, apart from the school itself, as a result of the Mount Kisco experiment, is the spirit of co-operation that has been stimulated and put to practical use by the people of the community.

This experiment is unique in that it deals with children as they enter school. Some other schools throughout the country carry on a similar work, but with the more advanced pupils. The end sought by the demonstration at Mount Kisco is the adoption of a curriculum more adapted to the child and to discard the age-worn principle of adapting the child to the curriculum.

However fanciful this idea may have appeared at the outset, the demonstration is eminently satisfying to those interested in the education of children.

Educators everywhere tell us that it is a real problem nowadays to interest school children in anything other than the studies which are considered a vital part of the everyday curriculum. To interest them, even those of the more advanced classes, in anything of an extra-curricular nature, is almost impossible for the reason that it may involve a little additional class room work.

How much simpler it would be to maintain the student interest throughout school life had that student began the study of sciences in his, or her, early days in class. Arouse a child's interest at the beginning of his school career in things outside the covers of the speller and the arithmetic, and the chances are better than even that this interest will be maintained over a long period of years.

Educators have been casting about for years in an effort to stimulate interest in school work. Athletics were the answer for a time, but it soon became apparent that athletics were limited to the few. Who will say that the Mount Kisco experiment is not the solution for which our teachers have been searching?

Chicago Traffic Law

A new traffic law has been passed in Chicago that may have far-reaching effect through the country. It requires vehicles to keep on the move while in the business district and allows a private car but three minutes parking time.

This ordinance is the most drastic ever attempted by any city and should it stand the test of time may be put into effect elsewhere. Many laws have been passed in the hope of reducing the ever-increasing traffic problem but the majority have fallen through without having accomplished their purpose.

Indications are that the Chicago bill will have the desired effect, however. During the short time it has been in use, it has speeded up traffic considerably in the "loop" and the police commissioner of the city has heartily endorsed it. Congestion is almost eliminated under the rule as trucks are allowed only a half hour parking time.

One objection is raised. It comes from the merchants in the district. They claim their customers are whisked away from the business establishments. As a result, they have taken steps to have the law repealed. The parking bill will have that effect for a short time, but it should soon pass.

The Doctor's Fee

A doctor complains that although he has seen dozens of movie scenes where a physician was called for professional service, he has never seen anything on the screen suggesting payment for the call.

"Don't you think," he says, "if some picture showed a doctor being paid, or at least told he might expect payment, the public would realize better that a physician rather expects such an arrangement when he is called to visit a family for the first time?"

This seems like a fair suggestion, whatever the artistic or professional standards may be in Hollywood.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—At the present stage of the 1928 campaign one of the most widely debated questions is that as to how old a man has to be before he is too old to be considered as a candidate for the presidency. The dispute not only engages the friends and supporters of the various presidential aspirants of both parties, but likewise great numbers of men who are getting along in years but maintain that a man is never too old to run for any office as long as he can run at all.

The issue was precipitated several months ago when former Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes announced that he regarded himself as too old to make the race. That aroused considerable discussion at the time, but it died down quickly. Recently it has been revived.

A compilation by one of these expert figurers reveals the somewhat surprising fact that whereas the average age at time of inauguration of the twenty-nine men who have been presidents of the United States was 52.6 years, the average age, at the time of the next inauguration, of the fifteen men who are the leading Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidential nominations of 1928 is slightly above 61 years.

Charles E. Hughes will be 65 years old at the time of the next inauguration, and will attain his 67th birthday within a few weeks thereafter. While he did not say so, it may be assumed that he draws the line of presidential availability at about 65 years. Having served 8 years, Mr. Hughes would be almost 75 years of age.

Now of the fifteen men who most talked of in connection with the presidential nominations of their parties, eight will be over 60 years of age at the time of the next inauguration, March 4, 1929. Thirteen of them will be above the average inaugural age of past presidents, and only five of them will be 57 or under—and 57 is decidedly above that average.

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, is the dean of the 1928 presidential corps. On March 4, 1929, he will be 39 years of age, which, should he be nominated and elected, would make him the oldest president in history. He would be 77 at the expiration of an 88-year service. No president has been 69 at the time of his induction into office. William H. H. Harrison was 68. He died a month after his inauguration.

Of the other republican candidates, former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, will be 68 at the time of the next inauguration; Senator Norris, of Nebraska, will be 67; Senator Watson, of Indiana, 64; Senator Borah, of Idaho, 63; Vice President Dawes, of Illinois, 63; Speaker Longworth, of Ohio, 59; Senator Willis, of Ohio, 57; and Secretary Herbert Hoover, of California, 54.

The average inaugural age of these nine Republicans is approximately 62 years, 8 months.

Of the Democratic candidates now enjoying the spotlight, Senator Reed, of Missouri, will be 67 on March 4, 1929; William G. McAdoo, of California, will be 65; Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, will be 58; Governor Al Smith, of New York, will be 55; Governor Donahay, of Ohio, will be 55; and Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, will be 52.

Of the twenty-nine men who have presided over the nation's destinies, twenty-four were 58 years of age or under at the time they succeeded to the presidency. Eight were 50 or under, and twelve were under the average age. Only five were over 60. John Adams and Andrew Jackson were 61; Taylor, 64; Buchanan, 65; and V. H. Harrison, 68.

Monroe was 55; John Q. Adams, Madison, Jefferson, Washington and Johnson were 57; Wilson, 56; Benjamin Harrison and Harding, 55; Hayes, Van Buren and McKinley, 54; Lincoln, 52; Tyler, Taft, and Coolidge, 51; Fillmore and Arthur, 50; Polk and Garfield, 49; Pierce, 48; Cleveland, 47; Grant, 46; and Roosevelt, 42.

A. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company says: "According to the preliminary report of mortality statistics in 1926 for the United States Death Registration Area, published by the Census Bureau, 6.4 per cent of all deaths were due to accidents. Some years ago we estimated that 14,000,000 persons are disabled each year for a shorter or longer period."

Q. What percentage of students work their way through college? J. B.

A. Of 600 institutions surveyed last year by the Bureau of Education, only 27 reported no students earning their expenses. In 408 colleges and universities, the students earned $25,500,000; 39 per cent of them paying all or part of their expenses. In the co-educational institutions, 44 per cent were paying their way; in the men's colleges, 33 per cent; in women's colleges, 17 per cent.

Q. Has a vaccine been discovered that will check the chestnut blight? S. E. G.

A. The Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture states that the vaccine treatment of trees to immunize them against chestnut blight is still entirely in an experimental stage.

Q. What is the origin of the hand salute of the soldier? M. V. A.

A. This salute is believed to have originated in feudal days when a queen of love and beauty was chosen at the close of tournaments and jousts. The nights, passing in review before the throne of beauty, raised their mailed fists to shade their eyes, intimating that they were dazzled by the beauty of the queen.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Chinatown as gray dusk sits softening shadows becomes somewhat panther like. Its attitude seems crouching and visitors are eyed coldly. Slipped figures no longer shuffle along. They dart quickly in and out the mean narrow streets.

Policemen always grip their clubs a trifle firmly during the hour when Chinatown is emerging from light to darkness. For sun down is the time when the tongs strike. In the twinkling of an eye saved-off shot guns may be blazing dead.

Chinatown, despite long periods of peace, has never been conquered by Occidental laws. Its surface may appear smooth, but underneath it tosses and turns like a fever-racked patient. Always in the hidden catacombs are sinister plotters.

In other districts in New York, the police have their subtle ways of learning in advance of gambling and bootlegging wars and other outbreaks causing bloodshed. But Chinatown is inscrutable. It has always been able to turn away suspicion with a seraphic gaze.

It has often happened a policeman will find himself talking to a tong leader several blocks away at the precise moment the Chinatown causeways are erupting their warriors. The battles are over in a few minutes. The dead in the street are the only mute evidence when police arrive.

Hundreds may be rounded into police stations, but the police axiom endures: "A Chinaman never squeals." He is blandly impervious to questioning resorting usually to the ancient alibi he does not understand English.

For forty years Chinatown has had an average of one tong war a year. Some are mere skirmishes and others run the streets red with blood. Pact after pact for peace has been signed with public dinners and hearty huzzas. But the volcanic hatred has never been stilled.

The moods of New York are volatile and no other city seems so affected by weather. Today, for instance, is one of those sullen zinc, gray days with a low-hanging mist. In three shops I noticed clerks showed no interest in making a sale. Pedestrians seemed to slouch along the streets and at a luncheon place everybody seemed to be sulking. To add to the gloom there came those depressing blasts of fog horns from the river. But on a bright sunny morning New York seems to awaken and stretch like a playful kitten. There is a lightness to the pedestrian's step. Truckmen whistle and policemen indulge pleasant banter. Weather is a fine thing. A columnist can always stir up a paragraph about it.

SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS.

Nearly a year of limelight has tested "Lindy" and he has not been found wanting. The same passing of time has called attention to the citizens of St. Louis, who backed his flight to Paris.

Other aviators found themselves hampered by backers who gave orders about things they were not qualified to speak upon, who tried to project themselves into the limelight, who sought to cash in on the risks the airman took.

But Lindbergh was given a free rein. The men of St. Louis furnished the money. Then, as far as an outside eye can see, they had the good sense to let him make his own decisions, the modesty to keep in the background, the character to reject plans to commercialize their hero.

Like Lindbergh's famous plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," the spirit of the city "came through." It deserves a word of favorable comment. —Columbus Dispatch.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

There came into my hands recently a new cook book. It wasn't the "Congressional Ladies' Cook Book" or the pronouncements of some famous French chef. It is a book telling us how to cook for children.

Nothing can be more important than the preparation and cooking of children's food. Unless we lay a foundation of health and vigor in earliest youth, we are not building as we should. The bones and muscles of early life are indeed the foundation of the bones and muscles of adult life.

Our youngsters cannot have strong bones, normal teeth, elastic muscles, clear skin and pure blood, unless the food they take is the right kind of food. Not only must it be the right sort of food, but it must be prepared properly.

After weaning begins, the first food we give the baby is a cereal. On this account this should be the first food to be studied. I was glad to find the cereals leading off in the book I have mentioned.

Thorough cooking is emphasized, and properly so. A tiny baby's mouth and gullet and stomach are not ready for uncooked and hard substances. It is pointed out that the invitation on the label to cook the cereal five or ten minutes, must be disregarded by the careful mother. Short-time cooking is not enough when a baby's food is being prepared.

This author believes that all cereals intended to be fed to young children should be cooked in a double boiler for three hours. Boiling—hard boiling—is not essential. But the cereal must be thoroughly steamed for a long time to make sure it is fit for the baby's use.

One of my friends, a woman I regard as a model mother in many ways makes it a practice to have a different cereal for every day of the week. This makes it easier to excite the interest of the child.

There is no doubt that monotony in feeding is a harmful factor. Variety is the spice of life. It is said, "Certainly, when it comes to eating, the importance of variety is not to be overlooked. This is particularly the case with young children."

You have such a choice in cereals that there is no difficulty at all in avoiding monotony. This is a thought worth remembering. Very young children, being fed before the teeth have become useful, must be carefully fed with the cereals. It may be better to strain the product, to make sure no hard lumps and, particularly no foreign particles go into the untrained throat.

You must not forget that the food for the baby must be specially prepared. There must be separate dishes, and utensils. Care in these matters will have much to do with the growth and well-being of the child.

Cooking for the young child is a real task and must be done by a patient and considerate parent.

Once Over

By J. J. Mundy.

A Word of Encouragement Means Much to a Friend.
Aren't you a little harsh in your criticism of those who do not stand up well under adversity?

Some persons are so constituted that they cannot meet trouble bravely. You call them weaklings and to an extent you are right.

But much depends upon temperament. In your life, no matter how strong, there have been times when you were at the point of breaking down.

If it had not been for the encouraging words of friends at the critical time, you might have given up the struggle.

But your family and friends braced you up and you weathered through. It is easy to pass judgment on one who has lost ambition and hope.

You feel he is not worth worrying about. How many weak and incompetent men do you know who might be induced to take a more determined stand as the result of encouragement from you?

How many times have you tried to help a person who was down? Right now there may be some friend who needs your help.

A little help from you may be just what he needs to encourage him to carry on.

ANNE LAURIE'S
TIMELY ADVICE

Dear Anne Laurie:
I have been going with a boy of my own age for almost ten months. He said he loved me but about three months ago he broke some dates with me and went with another girl. We are not engaged but we promised each other not to go with anyone else. I forgave him and he broke another date. We have been going together since but he seems different. He says he still cares for me, but he does not act it.

PEGGY:
Peggy: Since you are not engaged, I think it was most unwise of you to make such a promise. I would advise you to have a talk with your friend and explain that you do not wish to hold him to this promise and that you are entitled to the same privilege of going out with others. It is possible that his changed attitude is due to the fact that he feels he is not being fair in going out with others. If you make it clear to him that you do not wish to bind or restrict him in any way it may have the desired effect and you can again be good friends. I would advise you to make new friends and renew your relationships with your other friends. Do not be dependent upon him alone for your good times.

FISHERMAN:
Fisherwoman: Obviously this girl is not interested in you as you are. Perhaps she is waiting for you to correct the faults that she called to your attention, and if she was right in her opinions you might profit by her advice. If you are interested in gaining her friendship you will surely have to change; her reaction to your call proves that. And the decision rests with you. I cannot advise you, as I do not know just what these changes involve. I should think you would yourself wish to improve your social assets, however, and suggest that you attempt it and then call this girl again when you feel that you have enough in common to warrant her interest.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST

Christ's conception of the true Messiahship expressed by His remarks to an always eager multitude was a source of worry to the authorities of the Jews.

The fact that Christ identified Himself with the manna of Moses miracle angered them to the last degree, for this miracle was to them a sacred thing. By whose authority, they asked, did He make such claims, "This Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know?"

SYNTHETIC TOWN IN JERSEY LATEST MARVEL OF SCIENCE

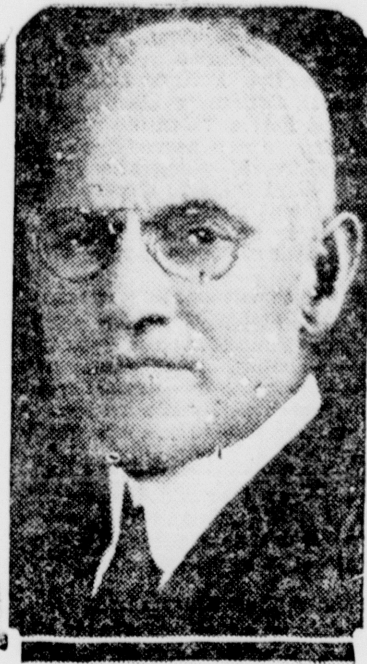

Alexander Bing Can't Wait for "Burg" to Grow, So Builds One

Towns used to grow. Think back. Isn't it so? At some crossroad a settlement would start for no good reason at all, and gradually increase to the proportions of a country town.

But now! Modern methods manufacture 'em out of whole cloth. At any rate, Alexander M. Bing of New York and his associates have acquired more than 1,000 acres in New Jersey and will build a complete town to be named Radburn.

This synthetic town will be reared with due regard to auto traffic and will surround a central park containing all schools, recreation centers and shops. Auto roads will be routed out of the way of pedestrians around the outside edge of the town. Factories will be provided for workers of Radburn so that there will not be any commuters.

In other words, Radburn is intended to be self-contained and self-supporting. Probably it will, but what's going to happen when the neighbors start talking about each other?

ALEXANDER M. BING

THE REAL BREAD OF LIFE

"I am the bread of life," He said, "Your fathers did eat the manna in the wilderness, and they died. This is the bread, which cometh out of heaven, that a man may eat and not die. I am the living bread, if a man eat this bread he shall live forever."

His answer not only contained a rebuke but a profound teaching: "Murmur not among yourselves. No man can come to me except the Father which sent me to draw him; and I will raise him up in the last day. Again the thought of Fatherhood of God was supreme and once more He attempted to educate them."

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Officials of the Eastern Inter-Collegiate Basketball league will meet here either Monday or Wednesday to consider Pennsylvania's proposal that the Penn-Dartmouth game of last Thursday might be replayed.

COURT RULES IN DAMAGE ACTION

Baldassarre Winner in Cincinnati Decision.

Attorneys throughout Ohio as well as corporations and others, are interested in the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals yesterday in Cincinnati, reversing the Youngstown district court in a damage action filed in 1926 by Ross Baldassarre of Wellsville.

Baldassarre was switching cars for the Pennsylvania Railroad company in one of the mill yards at Midland. In his damage action he claims to have been injured when an end door of one of the cars left go and struck his knee.

The action was first filed in Youngstown in May, 1926, the principal issue being whether Baldassarre was engaged in interstate or intrastate commerce. Judge Paul Jones, then presiding in the United States court at Youngstown, held that Baldassarre was engaged in intrastate commerce.

Through his attorney, W. A. O'Grady, Baldassarre appealed to the circuit court at Cincinnati and the Youngstown decision was reversed, according to word received by Attorney O'Grady yesterday afternoon.

As a result Baldassarre gets a new trial which probably will be held in Cleveland.

BATTLE LOOMS OVER MUSCLE SHOALS PLAN

"Power Trust" Lobby and Insurgents to Clash in Senate.

NORRIS PROPOSAL

Call for Government Operation and Sale of "Juice."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—A new battle between the great "power trust" lobby and the Progressive Democratic insurgent coalition loomed in the senate today in a pending fight over the Norris resolution, providing for government operation of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project.

The battle was assured when the Republican steering committee gave the Norris plan first place on the senate's legislative program. The measure will be considered next week and all indications point to its adoption.

The Norris plan, by which the government would operate the project and sell the power at reasonable rates to cities, towns and villages, has aroused as much opposition from public utility concerns as did the Walsh resolution, proposing a senatorial investigation of the "power trust." Whereas the "power trust" lobby was accorded with defeating the Walsh resolution, even the opposition leaders admitted the Norris resolution would be adopted in the senate.

The lobby's victory over Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D.) of Mont., meanwhile took on the appearance of being a hollow one. The federal trade commission, which was ordered to make the inquiry, announced it would start public hearings next week. It also adopted a rule declaring it would "follow the letter and spirit" of the senate's instructions. It may well conduct an inquiry differing but little from what Walsh desired and in such a case, the lobby's victory would be turned into defeat.

TWO MEN HELD FOR LARCENY

Arrests Made in Looting of Rice Home.

Dale Capehart, 19, Sophia street, and Audrey Bishop, 18, Spring street, arrested in Sixth street by Patrolman Chester Smith, last night, will face Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley Monday morning upon charges of larceny in connection with the alleged looting of the home of Mrs. Bessie Rice, Maplewood, Thursday afternoon.

Bishop, according to police admitted the robbery and indicated Capehart, a man's watch, alleged to have been taken from the Rice home, was found on Capehart, who declared that he had purchased it from another youth in a pool room.

Police charge two men entered the house by using Mrs. Rice's key which she had secreted on the porch. Two watches and other jewelry were taken.

HICKMAN HUNT TRIAL RESTS

Los Angeles Murder Case Adjourns Until Monday.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—The joint trial of William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt, his former partner in crime, for the slaying of C. Ivy Thoms, marked time today with a jury still incomplete.

After defense attorneys had exercised 21 of their allotted 30 preemptory challenges and state attorneys had used five of their 20, five women and seven men sat as tentative jurors when Superior Judge Elliot Craig yesterday adjourned court until Monday morning.

The chief obstacle to the selection of a jury to sit in judgment on the youthful pair, it was pointed out today, is the widespread prejudice against Hickman because of his conviction for the kidnapping and killing of 12-year-old Marion Parker.

While a lull hung over the court proceedings, investigators from the district attorney's office were searching for persons responsible for the reported distribution of photographs of the Parker girl's mutilated body. District Attorney Asa Keyes instructed his agents to arrest any person under suspicion of having sold or exhibited the pictures.

FREE RAIDER IN MAN'S DEATH

Federal Dry Agent Acquitted in Trial at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 18.—J. Randolph Brewer, federal prohibition agent, was freed of murder charges today which grew out of the killing of Charles V. Gundlach, 71-year-old Maryland farmer, during a raid on the farm.

A jury in federal court returned a verdict of not guilty after deliberating 37 minutes. Charges against three other agents will be dismissed as a result of the verdict.

Brewer and the federal government contended that Gundlach was shot in the course of duty and in self-protection. The state of Maryland, on the other hand, contended, and introduced evidence to show, that Brewer and Gundlach were bitter personal enemies, and that Brewer had sworn to "get" the aged farmer. The state contended Brewer was a former moonshiner himself.

Lengel Case Breaks

many of a witness at a previous trial can be admitted only if he is dead."

Special Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, shortly before Judge Lengel's ruling, declared the state's case would be dealt a "mortal blow" unless Streitenberger's testimony was admitted.

In refusing to testify at the present session, Streitenberger based his stand on "private reasons." The prosecution Friday, had called Florence Travis, court stenographer at Lengel's first trial, in an attempt to authenticate Streitenberger's previous testimony.

Defense Calls Witnesses.

So far no evidence has been offered by the state to connect Lengel with the Mellett death plot.

However, the defense today issued subpoenas for 23 witnesses, including five inmates of the Ohio penitentiary. Two witnesses reside in Youngstown, while the others live in Canton.

It was 3:57 when the jury was ordered back in the box yesterday afternoon by the court, following a recess of two hours. The court room was packed. People stood on benches in the rear and on the north side of the room. Aisles were crowded. Windows were ordered opened for ventilation. The crowd was the largest ever assembled in the court room during the trial of a murder case in Columbiana county. Few left at the noon hour. Many brought lunches with them.

Judge Lengel's Ruling.

In ruling against the admissibility of the Streitenberger testimony, Judge Lengel said:

"The question is a difficult one in some respects, and in other respects it is not. An array of law books lay before him on the bench. 'My decision might be decisive in this case.' He then continued: 'The decision involves a grave responsibility. I am obliged to decide this case from authorities in Ohio and in Ohio law. Some authorities lay down a principle. There is a great conflict in decisions in different states as to what is the attitude of necessity.'"

He quoted at length from the old English law, and made lengthy reference to a Massachusetts decision, wherein the court held "hearsay evidence is not admissible." In that case a witness had died.

"We think," the court went on, "Ohio has followed that early common law of England, although some states have gone farther."

Obeys Higher Court.

"Counsel has urged that unless a witness is dead his former testimony could not be introduced, but this is not a controlling factor in this case, for the witness is within the jurisdiction of the court but refuses to answer."

"My idea of a fair trial is, that the court should be liberal in admitting testimony, but then the supreme court of the state has passed upon that principle, and it is not for this court to say that the higher court is wrong. We are mere machines to carry out the law, and the decisions of the higher courts as we receive them."

The higher court may change certain decisions, but they would first find a reason for so doing.

"The supreme court has laid down a clean cut and dry principle of law, and it has spoken twice when the witness was absent, and the testimony could not be included."

"In face of these laws and decisions, am I to admit the former testi-

FLAPPERS NOW RUM-RUNNERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The flapper rumrunner is the latest variety of prohibition law violator that has been called to the attention of the federal dry office.

Reports today showed that a considerable number of young women, short-skirted, bobbed haired and wearing fur coats, are smuggling liquor into the country along the Canadian border. They are employed by smugglers on a commission basis, furnished with high powered automobiles and so far have been fairly successful in eluding the border patrol. The practice is said to be most prevalent in the Detroit sector.

many of the witness Streitenberger?

I realize the responsibility in this case, both to the state and to the defendant, but my duty is to obey the higher courts. There has been no connivance by any one in this matter, and therefore the testimony of the witness Streitenberger at the former trial in this case is not admitted."

State Notes Exceptions.

"Exceptions!" exclaimed Prosecutor Harter as soon as the court had concluded.

Judge Lengel then adjourned court until 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Counsel for both the state and the defense then went into conference. State lawyers retired to the office of Prosecution Attorney Robert M. Brookes, while defense attorneys went into the jury box. Judge Lengel retired to his private office.

State Attorney's Argument

In the arguments on the question of the Streitenberger testimony, Prosecutor H. W. Harter, of Stark county, said "As far as the rule of law goes, Streitenberger is as one dead. He cannot be made to speak. He has been sentenced to life imprisonment and therefore is not affected by a citation on contempt of court."

"We rely, therefore, on the old common law and in the statutes passed to crystallize that law, in insisting on this testimony in the interests of justice."

The legal battle over the competence of the testimony of Streitenberger was precipitated as soon as the state called to the stand Miss Florence Travis, the court stenographer who took that testimony.

Judge Lengel sent the jury from the courtroom when the arguments started.

Practically all of the attorneys in the case spoke and many legal authorities were submitted to the court.

Without accusing anyone, Prosecutor Brookes of Columbiana county charged that "someone has given Streitenberger the proper attitude to take on the stand."

Witnesses on Stand

Stanley Baltzley, Massillon drug-gist, a witness in the Ben Rudner case, was called as the first witness Friday afternoon. He did not testify at the former Lengel trial because he was in Canada at the time, he said.

His testimony was to the effect that Rudner told him he would furnish some things to beat up a man with whom the witness had a business dis-

FRENCH SLAIN, MOTHER SAYS

Denies Former Partner of J. P. Morgan Killed Self.

NICE, France, Feb. 18.—William Barton French, son of a former partner in the J. P. Morgan company, did not commit suicide but was killed as an act of revenge by his enemies, his mother, Mrs. Seth Barton French declared today.

French was found dead in the home of a friend recently at Santa Fe, New Mexico. He was pronounced a suicide by the police.

Mrs. French is recuperating at her villa at Rocca Marinella from a severe illness brought about by her son's death. She believes French did not take his own life and blames prohibition for the entire incident.

Mrs. French declared her opinion was upheld by the fact that when her son lived in France, surrounded by every temptation, he led a straight and sober life.

But, she said, when French returned to America, he drank heavily with enemies all about him.

agreement. Baltzley said that Rudner offered his services in that connection.

In a third conversation, Baltzley said Rudner told him "there was going to be something doing in Canton" and that on inquiry as to what it might be, Rudner told him to "wait and watch."

Homer Conley related how he brought Pat McDermott and Peggy Cavanaugh from Cleveland to Akron and then to Massillon on July 26, 1926. At Massillon, he said, he saw McDermott put some money in his pocket when he (Pat) returned to the automobile after a brief absence.

Peggy Cavanaugh followed Conley on the stand and told substantially the same story. The defense asked that the jury be instructed to receive testimony given by her and Conley for the sole purpose of tending to show that McDermott committed the homicide. There was no immediate ruling on the motion.

Jacob Smith, 76, Massillon, an employee of the Massillon State hospital, saw S. A. Lengel two or three days before the murder on South Erie street, Massillon, he testified. He is one of the state's new witnesses.

"I saw Lengel starting to go up into the Rudner store," the witness said. "When he saw me, he came down the street a few steps to meet me. I asked him what he was doing in Massillon and he said he had to look after people who were submitted to the court. Without accusing anyone, Prosecutor Brookes of Columbiana county charged that "someone has given Streitenberger the proper attitude to take on the stand."

Stanley Baltzley, Massillon drug-gist, a witness in the Ben Rudner case, was called as the first witness Friday afternoon. He did not testify at the former Lengel trial because he was in Canada at the time, he said.

LA GUARDIA SENDS QUIZ TO CURTIS, WILLIS

Asks Candidates' Attitude on Volstead Amendment.

THREE QUESTIONS

Senators Tell Borah They Stand for Enforcement.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—Prediction that no Willis candidates for delegate or alternates from Ohio to the Republican national convention will endorse Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover as their "second choice" for the Republican nomination for president was made today at Willis state headquarters here.

Charles A. Jones, secretary to U. S. Senator Frank E. Willis, announced that, while candidates supporting Willis for the G. O. P. presidential nomination will be permitted to make their own "second choice," these selections will be restricted to former Governor Frank O. Lowden, Illinois; U. S. Senator Charles Curtis, Kansas; U. S. Senator James E. Watson, Indiana, and Col. Charles R. Fisher, Wilmington, O.

Secretary Jones stated that the written consent of Lowden, Curtis, Watson or Fisher will be attached to the declaration of each Willis candidate who selects either of these four men as their "second choice" candidate.

Conferences were held today between Senator Willis, Col. Carmel A. Thompson, Cleveland, directing the Willis campaign; Secretary Jones, and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, of Findlay. Campaign plans were discussed.

By KENNETH CLARK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Representative La Guardia (R) of New York, a house wet leader, today addressed a new type of prohibition questionnaires to two avowed candidates for the Republican presidential nomination—Senators Curtis of Kansas and Willis of Ohio.

The same questions will be put to Secretary of Commerce Hoover as soon as the secretary replies to the recent prohibition letter sent him by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, a staunch dry.

La Guardia's chief idea is to place the candidates on record whether they would favor amendment of the Volstead act if it should be found "after a fair trial that enforcement is impossible."

His questions follow:

1.—"Will you enforce prohibition equally and uniformly in all the states?"

2.—"Will you faithfully and vigorously enforce prohibition regardless of the number of men that it requires and the cost?"

3.—"If, after, employing 100,000 agents and spending $250,000,000 or more a year, you would realize that not be enforced, would you then, after a fair trial, officially so state and recommend an amendment to the law?"

In replying to Borah, Curtis and Willis pledged themselves to vigorous enforcement.

Recently, La Guardia suggested in a letter to Borah that he takes steps to secure appointment of 16,660 agents to enforce prohibition in Idaho. He further asked Borah to incorporate in his questionnaire to candidates a question whether they would approve "expenditure of $200,000,000 annually as a starter for prohibition enforcement."

In a reply today to La Guardia, Borah said:

"I do not agree with the relevancy of some of your suggestions. But, Mr. La Guardia, if you believe they are relevant—as I have no doubt you do—there is no reason why you should not address these questions to the respective candidates. I think, looking at this matter from different viewpoints as we do, it might be helpful if more took an interest in presenting the questions in the coming campaign."

Shipbuilding in the world is now nearly equal the figures of early in 1914.

CHANGE NAME OF CAMP MEADE, MD., TO HONOR GEN. LEONARD WOOD

BALTIMORE, Feb. 18.—The first memorial to General Leonard Wood, who died last fall while serving as governor-general of the Philippines, was authorized today by Major-General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army.

In an address before a luncheon of the Leonard Wood Memorial association, General Summerall announced that Secretary of War Davis has authorized changing the name of Camp Meade, Maryland, to "Fort Leonard Wood."

"General Wood so typified the best military characteristics that his name should be kept continuously in the minds of our officers," Summerall said.

Chicagoans Trudge to Work in Deep Snow

Northwest Gale Sends Mercury Down Below Freezing After 17 February Days of Spring Mildness.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—After seven-teen February days of spring mildness, Chicago today trudged to work in eight inches of snow and in the teeth of a northwest gale that sent the mercury well below freezing.

The blizzard—the second worst of the winter—struck Chicago yesterday noon. Snow which began falling at that time continued throughout the night. Thousands of laborers worked all night in an effort to keep the lanes of traffic open.

Hundreds of automobiles were snowed under at the curbs and could not be moved. Elevated trains and surface cars had difficulty in handling the crowds of early morning workers. Many suburban street cars became stalled in drifts and had to be dug out.

Traffic accidents of all kinds resulted from the storm. One man was killed and several injured in a collision in the switching yards of the belt line, the blinding snow obscured the vision of the engineers. Several pedestrians were knocked down in the streets by automobiles while the blizzard raged at its height.

The blizzard and heavy snowfall was general over the midwest. Train and air-mail service in some sections were completely tied up. Many of the trans-continental trains in the west were reported far behind schedule.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Friday's closing crash in the over-bullied industrial stocks and pool specialties left a number of weak spots in its wake, and stocks of this were thrown on the market at the beginning of trading today. Speculative excesses such as the market has been indulging in in the last few months are not easily or quickly straightened out, and further losses of 2 to 4 points in the "pool pets" evidenced the haste with which traders were lightening their load in this section of the market.

The week-end reports on general trade conditions by Dun's and Bradstreet's were not encouraging, and private wires to the brokerage houses did not even substantiate the financial district's reports on the steel industry. Steel centers, while admitting the large inflow of business since the turn of the year, are inclined to believe that it is a hold-over from last year, and may not continue on such a large scale. Gloom and disappointment hang heavily over the oil industry, owing to the fresh cuts in crude oil prices this week, and the evident friction in the cycle riders.

Cattle—Receipts 25 head, calves 25 head; market steady; beef steers, $11.00 to $12.75; beef cows, $7.00 to $9.00; low cutter and cutter cows, $5.00 to $6.00; vealers, $15.00 to $18.50.

Sheep—Receipts none; market quotable steady; better lambs, quotable, $15.75 to $16.25.

Crossed Island Fruitful.

Juan Fernandez Island, on which Alexander Selkirk, the reputed original of Robinson Crusoe lived for four years, is one of the most fruitful spots in South America, according to a recent survey. Every known plant seems to grow there. One Frenchman who was shipwrecked there 40 years ago refuses to leave.

Great Britain now has 6,000,000 bicycle riders.

BOMB CHICAGO JUDGE'S HOME

Garage, Hangout of Gangsters, Also Dynamited.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—A fresh campaign of bomb terrorism was feared today following attacks on the home of a municipal court judge and on a garage which is said to be the hangout of alcohol peddlers and gangsters.

A building housing the undertaking establishment of Sbarbaro and Co., over which lives Municipal Judge John A. Sbarbaro, a partner in the firm, was damaged to the extent of $10,000 by a powerful dynamite bomb, set off shortly before midnight.

Judge Sbarbaro and his wife, occupying the second floor apartment, were thrown from their beds by the concussion. They escaped serious injury.

The bombed garage, located 17 block from the Sbarbaro place, was badly damaged by a similar charge of dynamite. Surrounding property was also severely damaged.

Whisky Said to Have Been Siphoned for Customers.

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 18.—Angelo Pappetti, proprietor of the Roll Inn, Darlington township, near the Columbiana county, (O.) line, is free on $2,000 bail today awaiting action of the March grand jury as a result of a liquor raid by county detectives which revealed 35 gallons of whiskey and 30 pints of home brew, according to officers.

He was arrested by County Detectives Charles J. O'Laughlin and Joseph H. Winters.

Detectives declare the liquor was hidden in a barrel outside the hotel and was siphoned when customers appeared. Cork placed in the wall attracted attention to the cache.

Police records show that Pappetti was arrested a year ago on like charges when state police and county detectives alleged they found 500 gallons of red wine in a subterranean room below the garage.

Campbell High Quint Is Beaten, 43-27, In Cage Debut Here

Hurstmen at Top Gait in Quelling Steelers' Five

Mahoning Countians' Opposition Disappears After First Quarter; Potters Scheduled at Dover Tonight.

Whatever argument Memorial high passers of Campbell may have had to offer Captain Elmo English and his Blue and White, in a basketball way, was all to insufficient as the Hurstmen, still smarting under last week's downfall, ran up a 43 to 27 victory here last night.

It was the initial appearance of the Campbell quint, which comes from a Youngstown suburb, on the East Liverpool schedule. Tonight the Potters will play at Dover.

The Campbell's put up somewhat of a battle in the first period but after that there was little to it but a march to victory for the locals. English and his crew practically clinched the contest in the second quarter.

Campbell found it difficult most of the time to pierce the Blue's stone-wall defense, finding the cords for only seven good tosses from scrimmage. Two buckets were their allotment in the first half.

East Liverpool's offensive performance last night was fully as striking as their defense and they roved through the Mahoning countians' protective cordon almost at will.

In the first quarter it looked like a battle. The visitors kept right on the heels of the locals all through that particular quarter, the count ended 12 to 10.

But in the second the Hurst combine started the merry-go-round. Right off the reel Jimmy Wildblood hooked in one of his favorite side shots. A minute later Jimmy came into the limelight again with another pretty bucket. Eddie Bloor then took a hand in proceedings and what a hand it was! With three successive baskets, all from the side, he just about put the game on ice. Robert Crawford, one of Mr. Hurst's guards, at this juncture was given permission to take his shower ahead of the rest of the team after Referee Gross had counted four personal fouls.

However, Bob had turned in a nice night's work, aside from his fouling proclivities. He was relieved by Frank Kirkman, of football fame. The Campbell lads made a single point in this period. The figures were 24 to 11 at the half.

The Hurstmen made it a runaway down the third and the fourth stanzas. Felt, who had relieved Withrow in the second period, was replaced by the latter. McConville took Wildblood's place at forward. Dyke took English's job at center, and Anderson and Pennabaker went in for Bloor and Kirkham at the guards.

The third quarter tally was 29 to 17. The same lineup started the final period but gave way to the regulars in the closing scene.

Ed Bloor draws a big vote as one of the outstanding performers in this particular conflict, although the rest of the gang, English, Withrow, Wildblood, Felt, Pennabaker, et al, played right up to the handle all the way.

HIGH SCHOOL RESERVES TRIM SIGS

IN THE best preliminary game of the season here the high school Reserves proved they have a real basketball team last night when they sent the strong Sigma Deltas down by the score of 18 to 17.

The game was mostly a defensive battle, neither five being able to work their offense much at any stage of the game. The Reserves led in the first quarter, 9 to 5. They continued to lead in the second period the score standing, 12 to 8, at the end of the half.

There was hardly any scoring done in the third stanza, both sides scoring one point each and the Reserves left 13 to 9 when the period was over. During the last scene the Reserves maintained their margin, the Sigma Deltas making a desperate bid for victory in the last few minutes of play.

All the Reserves put up a real article of basketball, the all around playing of Nease, McConville and Greenwood standing out.

Canne, Davis and Allison were the leading performers of the Sigma Deltas.

Steelers Are Beaten By Clowns

Midland Collegians Bow to Alliance Combine.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 18.—Handicapped by the absence of two of their regulars which lost them advantage of a firstquarter lead, Midland Collegians suffered a severe defeat in Lincoln gym last night at hands of the Alliance. (O.) Clowns. Score at the end of the contest was 44-26.

Alliance five prefaced their floor exhibition with a brief clowning act, including their version of the last Tunney Dempsey bout in Chicago. They hastily rubbed off grease paint and doffed clown costumes to appear on the floor in cage togs.

After a strong start following the tip-off, Collegians assumed the lead which they held with an 11-6 count at end of the first quarter.

Clowns made a heavy comeback in the second period and topped the scoring column, 23-14, at the half.

Clowns outplayed the Collegians throughout the second half of the struggle, making their strong showing in the final period when they rolled up 15 points to the Collegians' nine.

Slater was unable to get into the contest until the second half and Wuschinski, who took his Lincoln high girl passers to Freedom, did not get into play until the final canto. Although Wuschinski and Slater pepped up the Steel City passers considerably, the Collegians' failed to spur appreciably.

Playing of both fives was marred by condition of the floor which was oiled for a dance Wednesday night. Floor was so slippery that players remained on their feet with difficulty and were unable to make accurate shots.

Benedict, who turned in 12 points for the Steel City five, made the most impressive scoring record for the Collegians. Page and Slater played as good a floor game as the surface would permit.

Shaffer, Clown center, piled up 16 points and Hick, 19, for the Ohio quint. Buell, Alliance's most capable floor man, garnered five hoops and a pair of fouls.

Wellsville High Girls Improve Title Chances

Trim Salem Lassies, 32 to 23, Klinck's Passers Bow to Springer Combine in 23 to 14 Scrimmage.

Wellsville high school girls elevated themselves to a position where they can argue with the rest of the county over the 1927-28 championship as a result of their victory over Salem lassies last night in the preliminary to the boys' tilt. The score was 32 to 23.

The game was close all the way except in the final period when the Orange and Black sextet stepped out to score 10 points while the visiting maids were getting four. That settled it.

The count was tied at 6-6 in the first period. Salem held a two-point lead, 15-13, at the half, but dropped back in the third, the Wellsville girls leading, 22 to 19. There was little argument in the wind-up.

As for the boys' game, the Salem lads simply made too many field goals although they had a battle doing it.

The Klinck quint played its best basketball in the final period when they blanked the Red and White. Salem held a 12 to 4 advantage at the end of the opener, and led, 17 to 9, at the half. They were still out in front, 23 to 12, at the three-quarter post, but the Wellsville lads collected two more points in the final canto with the visiting combine going scoreless.

Hudkins In Line For Title Battle After Stopping Baker

Coast Ace Wins Shot At Dundee

Swarms Over Baker in Ten Gory Rounds.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Nothing stood between Ace Hudkins and the world's welterweight championship today except the closing of a title bout, which seems to be a formality, and the determined visage of Joe Dundee, which seems to be nothing of the kind. The story last night was that Dundee was the stand-between elements included the title chance, Joe Dundee and Sergeant Sammy Baker, named in the order of their importance. The story last night was that Dundee was the sergeant's beating of his young life for ten gory rounds. The story this morning is that Dundee must show cause why Hudkins is not to be the champion of his division.

They will probably meet over the championship distance of 15 rounds at the Yankee stadium, before all the June brides are married.

Baker's Chances Shot Now. Baker was the only serious contender to Hudkins' progress toward the title chance and the sergeant, deposited twice upon the floor for counts of nine and cut up about the face like a tenderloin, no longer can claim that distinction. The writer could allow him only two of the ten rounds and only in the fifth, when he twice belabored the ace with hard right hand crosses, could he be said to have scored effectively. Hudkins, on the other hand, in fact, both of them, carried five rounds clearly and the other three were even.

It was the third of the slaughter house series between the pair and this time it was Baker whose gore was spilled all over the premises. The first meeting saw Hudkins bleed profusely.

In the second time out, both spilled a lot of carmine over the scene with Hudkins winning. Happily and for the sake of fastidious butchers in the crowd, last night's activities just about closed the ledgers.

Baker may want more but it hardly seems necessary to see that he gets it. Hudkins doesn't have to make a life work out of beating Samuel up. It is a good bet he can now do it seven days a week.

Baker Down in Sixth. Samuel clearly indicated the approach of an inferiority in the sixth round when he went down claiming foul from a left to the pit of the stomach. He got up at nine, however when the referee paid him no heed and it goes without saying that a fouled fighter usually gets up the next day and then only in the case of a fire in his bed room. The other knockdown Hudkins scored came in the second as a result of a short right hand to the jaw, coming out of a clinch. Samuel took a nine-count that time, too.

This was the turning point of the fight, inasmuch as they had fiddled through the first round and a half on more or less even terms. Baker never recovered from the effects of the knockdown until the fifth, when the Aces neatly blocked a couple of right crosses with his frontispiece and was rocked to his shoestrings. It was Baker's first round of the fight and almost his last.

Couldn't Stay With Hudkins. For the sergeant didn't quite have the fortitude to stay in there with Hudkins over a protracted period and the Ace soon was out-mauling and out-roughing him again to carry the sixth and seventh rounds. Hudkins didn't quite have the speed he showed in his early days here but his will to win was enough; in fact, a great plenty for the sergeant.

With the decision thoroughly blown, Baker rallied sufficiently to get a slight edge in the eighth and hold Hudkins even in the ninth. But the Ace was only coasting behind the prospect of a certain victory and he proved it by swarming all over his man in the final round.

Midland Noses Out Freedom In League Clash; Girls Lose

Junior High Cagers Defeat Freshmen B in Class Tilt at Lincoln Gym.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 18.—Lincoln Class passed noses Freedom high out of a victory by the margin of one foul on the latter's floor last night. In one of the Blue and Gold's league matches postponed from earlier in the season. Final tally was 24-23, Midland.

Lincoln cagers trailed the Freedom quint for three periods and were held powerless to score in the second period.

Entering the second half of the fracas with an 11-7 disadvantage, Lincoln cagers made four goals and a foul while holding Freedom to four goals. Freedom still held the weighty half of the 15-16 score when the final canto ended.

With the aid of a fierce attack and close guarding the Midlanders piled up four hoops in quick succession in the closing stanza and held the Freedom five to half that many.

Steel City cagers exhibited well balanced teamwork and floor strategy. Samuels and Suffelett teamed well at guard positions and added in working the ball down to Glumac and Spisak and Glass, forwards, who garnered all the field goals.

Glumac was high score man with a total of seven field goals and a foul to his credit. Cutrona made five and a foul for Freedom.

Midland Girls Lose. Lincoln high girl passers were defeated by a 35-22 count by Freedom girls.

Midland girls offered a stubborn fight throughout the game, and although they succeeded in holding the Freedom girls to 13 points in the final half, their offensive was not strong enough to bring a victory.

Both teams used subs freely. At the half the score stood 22-14, Freedom. Mullen scored six hoops for the Steel City girls and Bream made three.

Wilder made all but one of Freedom's baskets, turning in a total of 23 points.

Catholic and Presbyterian Passers Win

Trim Jews, Methodists, in Mid-City League.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 18.—Catholic and Presbyterian quints remain in first and second positions, respectively, in Midland church league as result of victories over Jewish and Methodist aggregations in Lincoln gym last night. Catholics ran up a big score when they defeated the Jews, 35-10, and the Presbyterians doubled the count on the Methodists, whom they defeated 11-5.

Low, Presbyterian center, garnered three of his quint's field goals and A. Reynolds accounted for the other two.

R. Graham and Mason each found the hoop once for the Methodist passers, who are in the cellar position in league standings.

Morgan, Presentation forward, ran wild in the second frame and caged nine goals for the Catholic shooters. He also looped a pair of fouls. Hedish and Schmitt each tripled in the Catholic scoring column. Hedish made good one shot from the foul line in addition.

Goodman tripled for the Jews and Rosen and Gottlieb looped in a shot apiece.

Seniors, Frosh Land Opening Class Games

Knock Off Juniors, Sophs on High School Court.

In the opening games of the Inter Class basketball tournament on the high floor yesterday afternoon, the Freshies put the Sophomores to rout by the score of 30 to 13 while the Seniors took the Juniors into camp by a 30 to 20 tally. The Freshies had it pretty easy with the Sophs all the way. McNutt, Bowen and Ashbaugh were their big scoring guns, while Waltherer and Schaefer did most of the scoring for the first three quarters but in the final period put on an extra spurt and made the game almost a runaway. Barlow, Fountain and Allen were the leading Senior point makers while Puzek and Brown led in the scoring for the Juniors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—"You can play if you wanna—if you don't wanna, we don't care." That was the reaction today of officials of the New York Yankees to the announcement of Urban Shocker, veteran spitball pitcher, that he had decided to quit baseball.

Secretary Ed Barrow expressed the belief that Shocker is seeking a bonus or desires to escape the rigors of training camp life. Barrow declared the New York club would not offer Shocker a raise, and intimated that the veteran might be traded, he said. "If Shocker wishes to spend all his time in the radio shop in St. Louis, that is his business. But if he wishes to pitch for the Yankees that's our business and perhaps there will be a place for him."

Chicago Quint Finally Finds Someone to Beat

Lick Illinois, Their Down-state Rival; Purdue-Indiana Battle Most Important on Tonight's Card.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Basketball tossers at the University of Chicago chuckled today, over having found one big ten aggregation they can beat. They latter unfortunate crew is Chicago's famous down-state rival—Illinois.

The Maroons ran through the down-statesters here last night by the overwhelming score of 52 to 26, knocking out exactly two points for every one counted by the Illini.

Capt. Charley Heeger and Farwell of Chicago, and How of Illinois, were out off the floor in the second half for personal fouls. That's just how tough this game was. It was Capt. Heeger's farewell collegiate game.

The Maroons made a rout of the game in the first half, jumping into a commanding lead and drawing up at the rest period with a 28 to 8 advance.

Three big ten championship games are on tap for tonight, all of them important as regards the race for the conference flag. Of the three, the Purdue-Indiana affair at Bloomington is the headliner. Purdue now leads the parade with five games won and none lost. If the Boilermakers can hold their ancient rival tonight, they should have comparatively easy sailing to the championship.

Other games to be played tonight are Northwestern at Minnesota and Ohio State at Wisconsin. Northwestern and Wisconsin both still have a fighting chance to wind up in front.

Meanwhile Leo Flynn, who is waiting to condition Dempsey if the latter returns to the ring wars, says the Manassa mauler is considering a $500,000 offer for a vaudeville engagement on the Pantages circuit. Flynn does not believe Dempsey will accept the offer.

BROADWAY

A Thrilling Story of the Night Clubs
By Phillip Dunning and George Abbott.

"Don't worry! I'll make good," she replied through set teeth.

"Atta, baby. Here, Billie—" But Billie, all out of sorts, and still depressed, would not take hers. Steve laughed and put it back in his pocket. "I'll keep it for you."

Roy dashed in from his special comedy number all excited, and fumbling around for a false mustache, clapped it on. "Come on, girls, give 'em your best," he shouted. "This is a short one. I just got a flash at a guy standing in the back that I thought was Al Jolson." The lights flashed. "On your toes—alley up!" And through the cabaret doors they crept, slinking in with prop daggers between their teeth, to music soft and spooky.

After the doors had closed, Porky, still feeling goose-flesh, crept up to Steve and whispered, "Did I say the right things?"

"What do you mean?" questioned Steve, casually.

"To Dan McCorn—"

"Sure," Steve reassured him, "don't worry about him. Forget it"—And as Joe pushed back the folding doors of the private supper-room, elegant with shaded lights, white linen and flowers, Steve called, "Joe, fix up some high-balls and make mine a strong one."

Joe nodded and disappeared. Other waiters ran about making final preparations. The Chicago mob, curious and boisterous, straggled in behind Bennie and Dolph. There was the vibration of riotous gaiety in the air. Steve loved it—bright lights—perfume—women—champagne—He would have been perfectly happy tonight and could have celebrated the death of Scar Edwards properly had not Dan McCorn stepped in to spoil the fun. Why couldn't that express driver have been asleep or drunk or something? "Aw, forget it," he told himself—"McCorn has nothing on you. Everything's fixed. Have a good time—forget it!"

He greeted the boy friends from Chicago—"Come on in, boys—what do you think of it, huh?"

They strolled about, staring up at the silken canopy, peering in at the luxurious supper table, commenting as they did so. "Class, all right," "Nothing like this in the loop!" "This is get-together week in old Manhattan!" "The place you got to go through to get to Chicago," hiccuped Bennie.

"How long before we meet the dames?" questioned Larry, the tall blond fellow with the flat face whom Roy Lane had noticed at the table in the cabaret—the one whose long arms dangled from the sleeves of his hired dinner jacket.

"They'll be here in a minute," promised Steve and sheers went up—"But remember, boys, no shop-talk tonight—everybody here don't know our racket."

"Steve, you better be the one to serve out the introductions," Dolph suggested, although quite unhappy about the whole thing. He believed that Steve should go home and from home slip out of town, to-night. No good wasting precious time like this.

"Don't let any one sing the prisoner's song or we'll all be in tears," Porky warned, grinning.

The girls came rushing in from the cabaret, hurrying off their big pirate hats. Applause followed them. The prop daggers were dropped in a heap on the floor.

"Here we are," Steve said, "now how about the drinks?"

"Not yet, Steve," reminded Mazie, "this is the quick change for the finale."

"The parade of the nations," Ruby explained, wrapping the Spanish flag around her as she spoke. "The other girls were rapidly making the same quick change. Bare backs, arms and legs gleamed in the orange light."

Dolph called to the gaping Chicago gang—"Step up, fellows. Don't be bashful."

Steve made the introduction as previously planned, the girls one at a time, but the gang was included in one sweeping gesture and one phrase: "Girls, my friends from Chicago."

Nick, distressed, entered from his office. With McCorn hanging around, this party made him nervous.

"And here's the old chief himself," Steve announced—"Boys, this is Nick Verdis, a regular—he's paid so many fines, he owns stock in the White House."

"Glad to get in wild youse," said Larry, and Bennie added, "Ya got some swell frills—yes, sir," with eyes on Billie.

"Any friend of Steve's is K. O. with me," said the crestfallen Nick. "Come on in here, and we can sit down." He started for the supper room but Bennie protested. "Sit down and leave all this lingerie, am I crazy?" He winked at Billie who shivered slightly.

"They got to finish the show yet," Steve explained, "we'll see 'em all afterwards."

"Well, I hope to tell you," smiled Mazie, ogling Bennie.

Roy dashed in from the cabaret, out of breath.

"Ready to unravel the last one, kids?"

To a patriotic march, the girls, wrapped in their flags, started to parade out, very regally, about four steps apart.

"And fellows," Steve continued with his introductions, "this is Roy Lane, better known as Personality."

Feeling the sneer behind the remark, Roy said, unperturbed, "In person—not a moving picture." He was making a very fast change to an Uncle Sam's costume.

"Possibly the greatest living song and dance artist who never played the Palace," Steven went on with his wise-cracking. The crowd laughed.

"There's a lot of time, Wisenheimer," Roy said, snapping on an Uncle Sam gaiter—"I ain't worrying about my future."

Then out he marched, majestically, to the patriotic air, supreme in his own faith, this hoofing Uncle Sam.

CHAPTER 35.

While the parade of nations was going on, Nick, feeling he must be sociable on account of Steve, led the Chicago gang into the supper-room announcing that he would buy the first drinks. Larry followed, protesting, "We ain't exactly what you call broke ourselves, you know!"

There was coarse laughter and Joe served a round of liquor. Lil Rice joined them shortly after and was gleefully introduced to Porky. "Wait a minute gang," he sang out, patting Lil on her corpulent arm—"here's one you ain't met yet. This is Lil, the silver-toned song bird."

Lil bowed, grandly, then kidding them she clapped her hands soundly together, her wristful of bracelets jangling—"Give the little girl a big hand," she shouted. "Maybe we can get her to wobble something," Porky said, ogling her, openly.

"How about Silver threads amongst the gold?" Dolph said, killing his second drink.

There was a victorious protest, especially from Bennie who crossed to Porky and whispered in his ear. Porky grinned, looking up at Lil. "Bennie here, knows you, Lil—says he heard you sing at Jim Tomasso's joint in Chicago seven years ago."

Bennie yelled "I said seventeen years ago!"

"What do you mean?" protested Lil, accepting a drink—"That was my mother."

There was a general uproar—a pandemonium of wise-cracking; of sly kicks; of reaching for food on the long gleaming table; of clinking glasses; of flying corks; of filthy jokes and of brief squabbles interrupted by the return of Roy and the girls from the cabaret. There was considerable applause as the swinging doors closed.

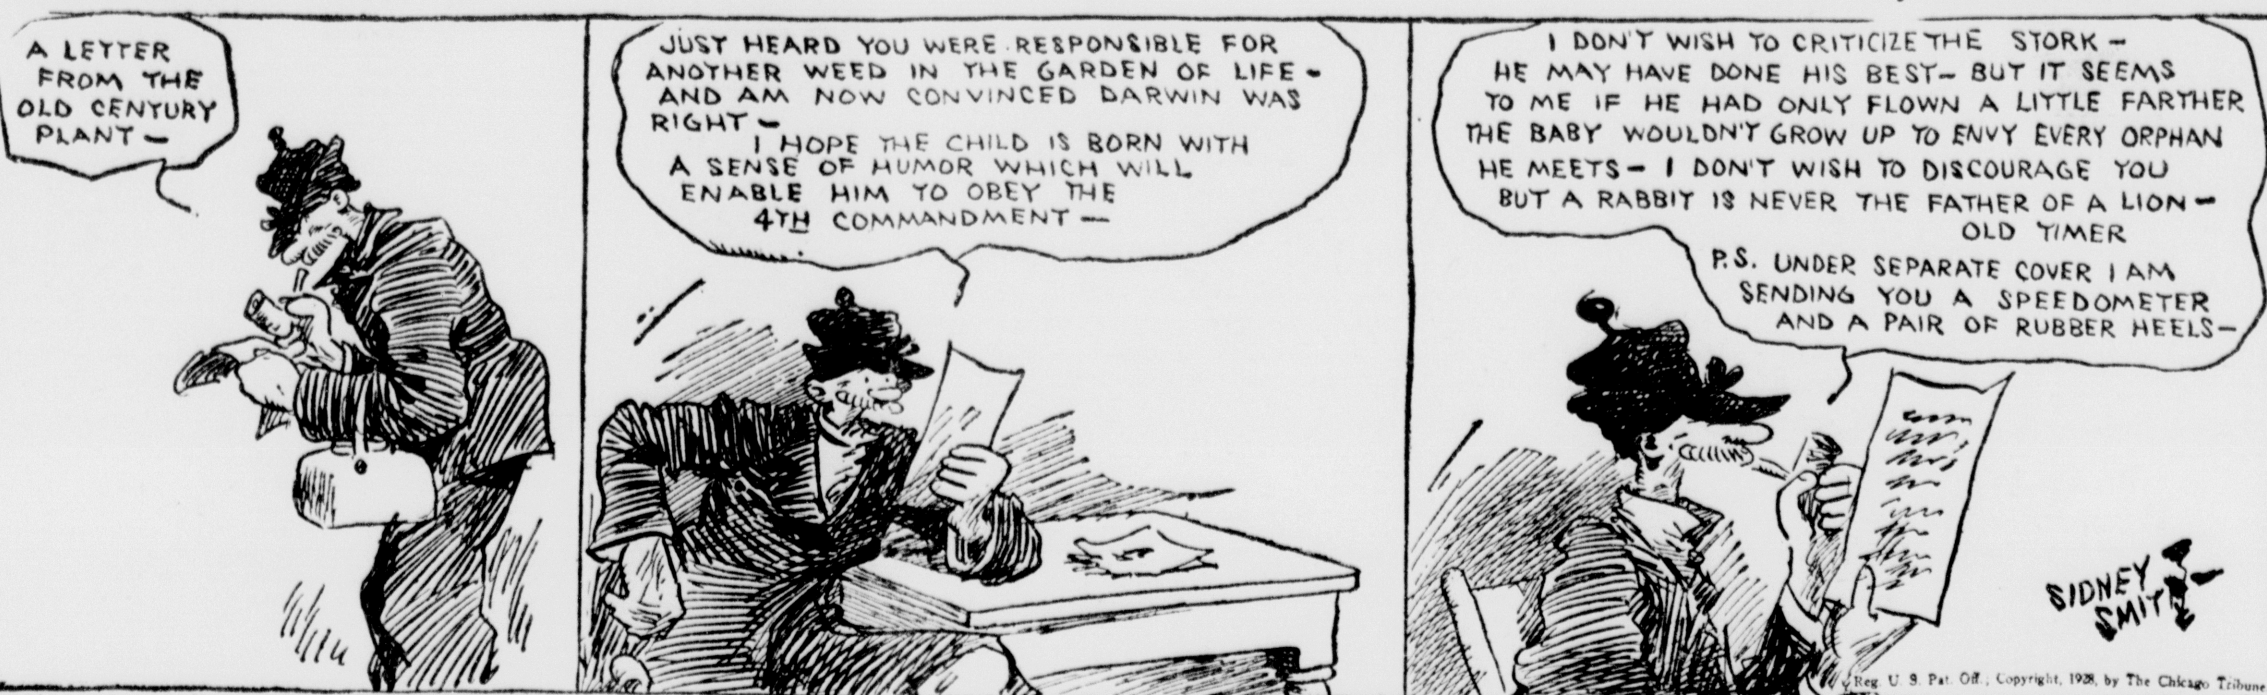

At once, the girls flung off their flag costumes and mingled with the men, making for the supper table at once, clamoring for food and drinks. Dolph was shoving them into the room, crying, "Come on, girls—let's have fun! In here everybody." He saw Roy starting up-stairs, carrying his costumes and props and he called after him. "Hey young fellow, have a drink!"

"No, thanks, I just had my hair cut!" replied Roy with dignity, continuing upstairs. Before he quitted the stairs, he looked down and saw Billie, standing bewildered in a corner. His heart ached for her, but his pride would not permit him to speak, so he went on into his tiny dressing room.

Lil began thumping the piano in the supper-room and the clamor became even louder. Figures whirled through the cigarette and cigar smoke—champagne bottles popped, glasses were smashed—a chair was knocked over.

TYPICAL MODERN CO-EDS OF O. S. U.

No. 1, Catherine Kittle; No. 2, Audrey Sweet; No. 3, Anna Heacock; No. 4, Grace King; No. 5, Dorothy Mitchell; No. 6, Helma Holko.

COLUMBUS, O.—Representative of 4,000 other co-eds in the composite of the campus of Ohio State university, these six good-looking co-eds have been chosen as typical modern co-eds.

The typical co-ed of O. S. U. is far different, the judges decided, than declaimers of present-day youth are wont to believe.

In fact, she is at heart not far different from her mother and in her job of womanhood will no doubt fill her position quite adequately, perhaps better than the passing generation.

Look at her qualifications as represented by the six upon whom the honor of being "typical" was awarded.

Her perceptions are keen enough so that she will require her husband to be a man she can respect for intellectual ability equal to her own. Above all she demands that she love the man she marries. Besides that she does not want any man to get ahead of her.

Three of these "typical" co-eds are specializing in English literature. One expects to teach; one wants to be a dramatic critic on a newspaper or on a magazine; another to marry, if the right man finds her, she admitted.

Identify Gangland's Victim.
DETROIT, Feb. 18.—The woman found shot to death in a ditch on the Five-Mile road yesterday was identified by her finger prints early today as Mary Lowery, widely known in the underworld as "Billy." She was slain, investigators believe, because she "knew too much" about gangland activities.

Dublin Has Much Distress.

READ THE CLASSIFIEDS.

Cairo Likes Shakespeare.
Shakespeare in English was a success in Cairo, Egypt, where the government backed a season of plays by the Bard recently. The government had guaranteed gross receipts of $21,500, but $630 in excess of this was taken in at the opera house box office. Crowded houses were the rule, and when "Hamlet" and "Othello" were given, extra seats had to be arranged. Not only did the English patronize the productions, but at some performances half the audiences were Egyptians. They especially enjoyed "Hamlet," and frequently interrupted the performance with their enthusiastic applause.

Biblical Shield in Charm.
Mahzel, a device taken from the shield of David, and which has been carried by devout Jews for 5,500 years, is being commercialized in Europe as a lucky charm. The fad started when it was told that Lenin had the sign on his airplane when he flew the Atlantic. Mahzel also appears on the Ark in all synagogues.

The last annual automobile show in Prague, Czechoslovakia, was the second largest of the season in Europe, that in Paris being the only larger one.

50 CONVERSIONS IN EAST END REVIVAL MEET

Rev. H. C. Hildebrand in Second U. P. Pulpit Sunday.

PRAYER SERVICES

Three Congregations Close Campaign Tomorrow Night.

Fifty conversions have been reported in the union revival campaign of the Second United Presbyterian, Second Presbyterian and Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal congregations, which will close in the Second United Presbyterian church Sunday night.

Rev. Harry C. Hildebrand, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Canton, will preach. A union meeting of the young people's societies of the three churches will be held preceding the evangelistic service.

Morning prayer services will be conducted by the women of the three congregations weekly during the winter, it was decided last night.

Rev. E. C. McCown, pastor of the South Hills United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, was the preacher at last night's service, his subject being "The Separate Life." His text was "Come ye out from among them and be ye separate."

He said: "It is plain what God meant when these words were first uttered to Israel. They were to come out of the country of their captivity down in Babylon and enter again into the pleasures and the liberties of their own land. This is the invitation of God for all time for the soul in the captivity of the evil one."

"There is a difference between the two countries and the two conditions. You cannot mix them any more than you can reconcile darkness and light. It is better to come out from the bondage of sin and into the inheritance of the children of light."

"We are the temples of the living God and God wants to dwell in us. No temple of God can stand in the enemies' country. It means an entrance into God's hospitality and an enjoyment of his presence.

"He is saying, 'I will receive you.' It means reception into the household of God. He is saying 'I will be a father unto you.' He dwelt upon the fatherhood of God and the sweet relationship of the children to the father."

"How often have we wished we could go back and be better children when we think of father and mother? A little fellow was left by his father for five months while he went into another country on business for his firm. The boy was deaf and dumb. While the father was away they operated on the boy and when the father returned his little son put his arms about his neck and kissed him over and over again and said, 'I love you, daddy, I do.' The father was a lover of music and he said 'that is the sweetest music I have ever heard.'"

Saves Millions

Through the efforts of Master Sergeant Paul R. Nelson of Fort Totten, New York, who has invented a new method for the operation of mine control cables, the Government will save millions of dollars. Nelson's invention reduces the number of wires in the cable from nineteen to one. The difference in size is clearly shown in the picture. (International Illustrated News)

"There is a spark of love for the Father in every heart, and if we are to save men we must find it and fan it to a glow of new devotion, and then stick to the new brother or sister of our Heavenly Father until the life is well established in the household of God. Coming out from the far away country of bondage and sin means to come home to the Father's house."
